

THE BONSAI Wire

UPDATE

November 2014

The Newsletter of The Greater New Orleans Bonsai Society

FROM THE President

It seems Fall is finally trying to arrive. Remember as temperatures drop that your bonsai will not need as much water as they did in the summer months. Overwatering can cause as many problems as underwatering. You should also, by now, have slacked off on fertilizer - especially anything high in nitrogen. You don't want to spur a burst of growth that will not have time to harden before cold/freezing temperatures.

GNOBS annually collects donations for Toys for Tots and Second Harvest for those in need. Donations will be accepted at the November meeting and the December Christmas party. If you wish to donate: Toys for Tots - Bring a new unwrapped toy. Second Harvest - Bring any non-perishable food items.

This month's meeting features a bonsai basics session on winterizing your trees by Bill Butler. Bill will provide you with some much needed information on how to care for your collection during the winter months. For our program, we will have an open workshop - a chance to work on your trees, get opinions and advice from other members and generally socialize as we enjoy our favorite hobby.

GNOBS President

So You Want to Create a Bonsai

by Joe Day

Our local climate will allow a bonsai artist to grow many species. They all have to be handled a bit different to keep them healthy. If you lead a complex life you need plant species that require simple care. If you can spend almost all your time with your plants you can grow more demanding species. From my experience these species need good but not complex care, Trident Maple, Japanese Maple, Elm, Hornbeam, Podocarpus, Boxwood, Bald Cypress Juniper and Youpon Holly. These species tolerate the same soil mix, fertilizer, temperature and amount of sun light. The Maples can do with a bit less sun and the Juniper a bit more sun. They have close to the same insect problems, mostly chewing insects and they have few disease problems. All these species will live a long time, grow well in containers and create highly respected bonsai that increase in value with age. This is in no way all species that do well but they all are available in our area at a reasonable cost.

Members are always encouraged to bring any tree to meetings that they wish to discuss or about which they need advice.
